The starting lineups, excluding pitchers, have been selected for the two All-Star Baseball Games—one at San Francisco's Candlestick Park Tuesday, July 11 and one at Boston's Fenway Park Monday, July 31. Both games will be covered by the NBC-TV and NBC Radio Networks, with the July 31 contest being televised in color. Air times and commentators, as previously announced are:

JUSTICE DOUGLAS SPEAKS

Justice William O. Douglas of the U.S. Supreme Court will speak on "Foreign Policy at Home and Abroad," and will answer questions from a studio audience on NBC-TV's "The Nation's Future" program of Saturday, July 15 (9:30-10 p.m.).

The program was recorded on tape in NBC's New York Studios, Wednesday, June 14 for broadcast July 15. Edwin Newman is the moderator.

Justice Douglas was appointed to the Supreme Court by President Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1939. He was then 40 years old—the youngest justice in 127 years.

After he was graduated from Whitman College, Walla Walla, Wash., and Columbia University, he practiced law in New York City and was on the faculty of the Columbia and Yale Law Schools. He became chairman of the Securities and Exchange Commission in 1937.

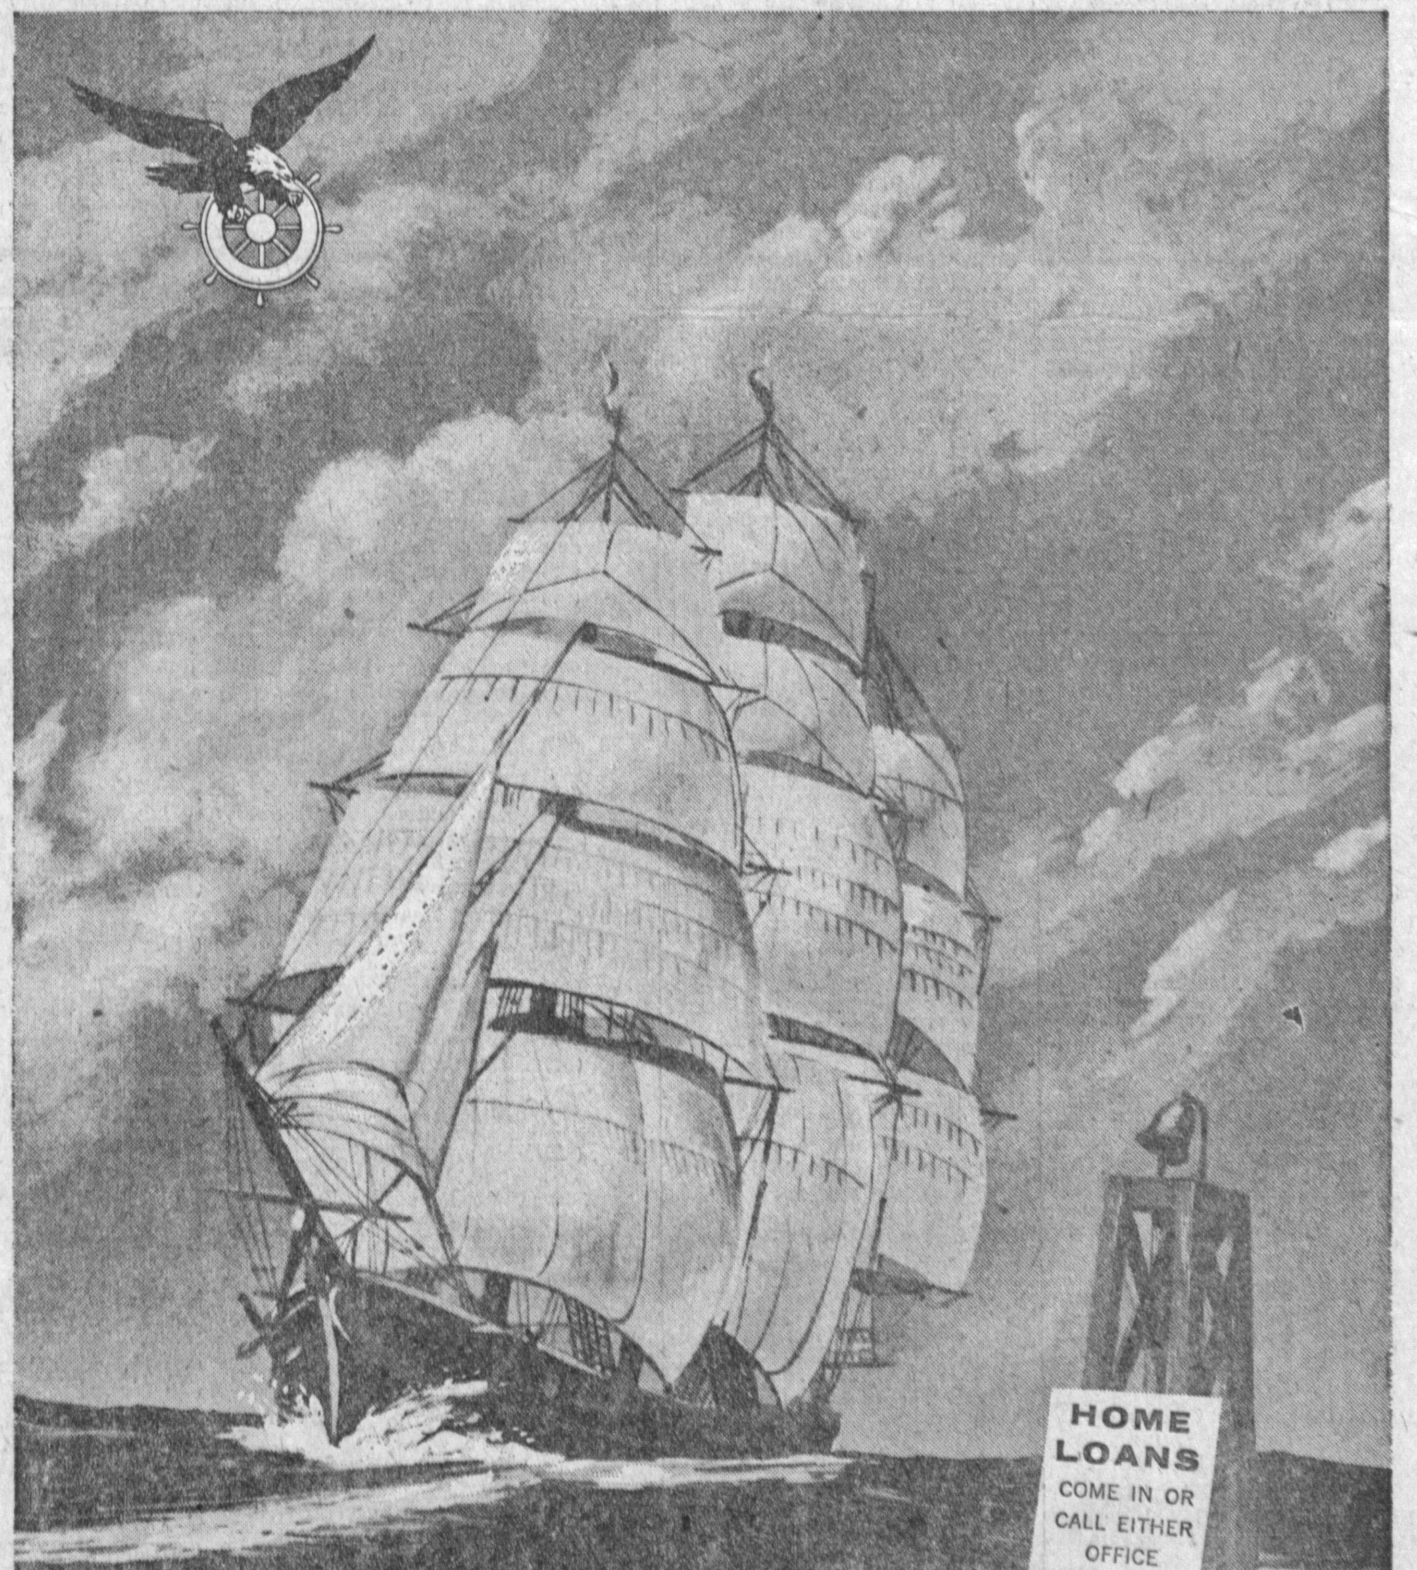

Justice Douglas is known as the Supreme Court's leading dissenter, and has declared that "the court should keep one age unfettered by the fears and limited vision of another." He lectures a great deal and, unlike some of his fellow justices, often speaks on political matters.

He spends his summers traveling throughout the world, mountain climbing and writing about his travels. His books include "Of Men and Mountains," "Strange Lands and Friendly Peoples," "Beyond the High Himalayas" and "Russian Journey."
